

April 2008

Written by

Friday, 12 March 2010 13:58 - Last Updated Friday, 12 March 2010 13:59

February and March have been two of our busiest months ever. We have interviewed for prospective staff, but are still looking for somebody who has the special something. Do you know somebody who enjoys a technical challenge and can work through problems logically and quickly? They may be just the person we need....!

Four new servers have been built already this year. Three are standard Small Business Servers - this has become a bit of a niche market for us, our speciality seems to be looking after small businesses - but one is a specialist database server. If your business uses IT then have a chat with us - we can make sure that you are making the most of your systems, and also discuss how to protect your IT - and therefore your business.